Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

KEARNEY STREET
NEAR COMMERCIAL
Established in 1854
Treatment of Sexual and Diseases and all those
Disorders, Stricture Syphilis
Organs, Seminal Weakness Secret Skin Diseases (of Blood) and Ulcerated Legs
Treated.

Horrible Diseases.

Thousands of persons both male and female who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus communicated to the system took at their pallid, emaciated faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of married life. In this horrid situation they remain until death closes the scene Let parents, friends, attend to those who are suffering with horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are treated for and cured before it be too late. Send immediately to Doctor Gibbon's Dispensary who has devoted his especial study for years, and has discovered a certain cure to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or injurious drugs It is important to those afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretenders who have inked all cities, publishing their false and high sounding names of conferred physicians from other places Be therefore careful and make no mistake, or you may fall into the hands of those who will

Destroy Both Health and Life.

Seminal Weakness.

Sometimes the consequences of self-abuse This terrible and depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by both sexes to an alarming extent, and is attended with unerring certainty, the following train of symptoms unless counteracted by scientific means, viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears nose like the falling of leaves and rattling of chariots, palpitation of the heart, trembling of the limbs, confused vision, loss of memory, loss of confidence diffidence in the presence of strangers a dislike to formal or new acquaintances, a desire to shun society loss of memory, horrible forebodings and various eruptions about the face, body, blood breath coughs, consumption, night sweats and frequent insanity If either of the above symptoms exist, should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific method of treating this diseaso which never fails of a speedy, quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Thousand Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily that he was cured of this complaint by either Mercury or Quack

Dr GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a permanent cure or make no charge

No quack nostrum is used by Dr GIBBON in his practice, and if he was understood the terms would be cured at a reasonable charge.

Since the date above stated, I have received the most unqualified testimony regarding the cure of the worst forms of Private Diseases, and have not failed in the hands of Dr GIBBON in any case that he has undertaken, and has promptly forwarded, free from damage or exposure to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use. Medicines sent by express, or by mail to any address. Delicate, private, and confidential letters will be answered promptly, and medicines sent in registered letters, through Wells, Fargo & Co

SOLD GREENBACK CASE

I am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes at Par (and have been since Dec 27, 1862, for the rent of my Store—Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets I feel compelled to assess for the benefit of the public, that leased the building of me Feb 27, for a term of years, at which there was no such currency in use, and it was understood the terms were to be paid in the same kind of money as received. Since the date above stated, I have had the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the more than two-fifths of the real amount we were to pay. He had secured the lease very favorably, and now purchase he now to comply with his contract and pay in Gold, would be getting a great bargain in the city. A Registry Law

In his message to the Legislature, Gov Gibbs recommends the enactment of a registry law A recommendation of a similar character was made in his message at the late special session, but the Legislature took no action upon the subject There were differences of opinion at that time as to the necessity of such a law, many members being of opinion that the laws already in force were a sufficient guarantee against fraudulent and illegal voting We think the last election has shown this to be a mistake That many illegal votes were thrown in several counties there can be no doubt All remember how the returns from Umatilla Union and Jackson counties astonished everybody of both parties, except a few who were in the secret of making up Democratic majorities to suit the possible necessities of the case so as to counterbalance the opposing majorities elsewhere We do not forget that our opponents charged the Union party with the perpetration of the grossest frauds in several places, and that not a few of them still assert that Gov Woods and others owe their election to the illegal practices of their friends Now, if those who make these charges really believe them will they oppose the enactment of a law calculated to prevent in future the evils of which they complain? We do not believe that the Union party will offer any objection to an act designed to prevent the occurrence of such frauds as are alleged against them, and which they are convinced their opponents perpetrated last June There is no Union man but who is willing to see a law enacted to guard elections against abuses and frauds, and if Democrats oppose a measure of this sort, their antagonism to it must be construed as a withdrawal of the charges which they have been uttering for months against their opponents Do they want us to understand that they are willing to countenance the frauds of which they accuse the Union party, or do they intend to confess by their actions that these accusations are purely fictitious and rest on no proof or probability whatever?

A registry law may be enacted within the provisions of the Constitution, of such a nature as to protect the legal voters of the State against the interference of those who have no lawful right to exercise the elective franchise Positive proof of residence should be required in all cases By this precaution the votes of a migratory class who wander about, residing nowhere in particular, but invariably voting at every election in any State or Territory where they may happen to be, would be certain of rejection

It is not expected that this measure will go through without opposition Those who want no restriction upon their purposes to carry elections by any means, fair or foul will oppose it with all the vehemence they can command Last winter a small minority of fanatics in the Legislature openly boasted that they had defeated a law of this sort by threatening resistance, bloodshed, and the horrors of civil war, in case it were enacted We will not say that these terrible fellows bullied the majority out of their design, we only express our desire that the Union members of the present Legislature shall take such action on the subject as shall seem to them best calculated to prevent a repetition of the glaring frauds which were committed in the last election Three months ago, the Unionists with a unanimous voice demanded a law for the more effectual prevention of fraudulent voting, and if Democrats now oppose it, they acknowledge that all the uproar they have been making about "Abolition frauds" is utterly groundless, and show beside, that they are not disinclined to leave a door open for similar practices by their own party hereafter.

Backsliders from Seward's Church.

The State Rights Democrat, in speaking of the late rebellion and its objects, says that the "South made no war upon the federal laws or Constitution"

When it is remembered that the person who writes this good Democratic doctrine is no other than M H Abbott, whilom editor of the Polk County Democrat, and more recently of the Oregon Herald, the above assertion will not be so very surprising

This is not the first time that a Democratic editor has declared that the action of the insurgents was in no way violative of the "federal laws or Constitution" It is not the first time that a Democrat has attempted to fully justify the rebellious conduct of the South, by asserting that the course she took was perfectly proper and right, involving no crime or wrong whatever.

Nor is it the first time that the present editor of the Democrat has attempted to throw the wrong of the disloyal South upon the loyal North, by claiming that the rebels made no war upon the Constitution, but that loyal men, in quelling the rebellion, violated the federal laws and trampled the Constitution under their feet.

For, if the South made no war upon the Constitution—if her people did no wrong in their endeavor to establish an independent government—the North committed a monstrous wrong in prosecuting a bloody and desolating war against an unoffending people—reducing them to the last extremity of poverty and misery

This brings us round at once to one of the cardinal doctrines of the Democratic party. From the commencement of the war to its close, and in the very agony of the struggle, that party condemned with loudest vehemence those who were struggling for an imperilled Union, while it never censured, even in the mildest manner, those who were fighting for that usurpation known as the Confederate States of America. It never breathed a word of disapprobation against the rebels, but rancorously assailed those who were resolved to fight for the Union. Why? Let a Democrat tell you "The South made no war upon the federal laws or Constitution," while the North, in resolving to carry on the war, wickedly disregarded the former and set the latter at defiance!

Democracy boasts that it is unchangeable That it is so in its admiration of the late rebellion, every one is convinced. Clergyman Seward said they were converted. If that were true, there is more than one backslider already. It is high time for him to begin to exhort among them anew. Let him take them next time on probation, and renew them in the faith every sixty days

A day or two since the telegraph reiterated a statement which was made home time ago to the effect that Confederate bonds which had of late been entirely neglected in England, are now in demand at an advance and that their increased value is owing to favorable reports from the Philadelphia Convention of the 14th August This is a rather important announcement The English aristocracy who hold these bonds know perfectly well that if Johnson's policy triumphs the Southern rebels will at once obtain seats in Congress, and that their first act will be to demand the assumption of the rebel debt by the General Government, or the repudiation of the debt of the United States The British bond holders can see it. The rise in rebel bonds was the legitimate result of the action of Johnson & Convention

GENERAL GRANT AND SEWARD —The New York Citizen says

General Grant said one day in conversation with a friend that it is a perfectly useless expense for England to keep a Minister at Washington while Seward remains our Secretary of State Seward is a better servant of England than any direct English agent could be He has no other ambition than to serve her interests and perverts all the powers of his position to this end.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 13 —A telegram was received this afternoon announcing the safe arrival at Los Angeles of the steamer Active with the 1st U S Infantry on board, which left Monterey on the 6th inst Also that the steamer Ajax had arrived at San Diego with the 2d U S Infantry on board, which left Monterey on the 7th inst

The following dispatch was received this morning from Los Angeles dated Sept 12th

The troops under command of Gen Wright arrived here safely to-day and will proceed into two divisions, the first under command of General Negley to Fort Yuma and the other under General Wright Both divisions embarked at once and proceeded to the Gulf of California and landed together at the mouth of the Rio del Puerto and making the Headquarters at Puebla de Los Angeles The whole transaction was conducted with the greatest order and quiet

The citizens generally are well pleased with the movement of troops, as it is thought it will prevent any further disturbances between the Americans and Mexicans The officers and men are in excellent health and spirits

The landing of the troops was witnessed by the entire population of the city, and the display of arms and accoutrements was very fine

The sailing of the vessels as positive and before this date will have arrived at their destination of the expedition It was known to the citizens and officers of the expedition that Alta California was the last point to be occupied by the French troops and it will doubtless be the first point attacked The city is about sixty miles from the point at which the expedition landed and the journey on foot will consume at least two days

The troops are in good and hearty spirits and will arrive at Fort Isabel month of Colorado on 24th of August and started to join General Negrete Utility immediately His party were all well and a guard of General Negrete had met them to accompany them to the camp General Negrete received a welcoming address to this country dated Puebla de Los Angeles August 15th 1866

From Mazatlan, under date of Aug 3d we have the startling news that the French had received orders to concentrate their forces in Sonora for the purpose of holding it permanently as an imperial indemnity for French claims These orders it is said have been received from France and are apparently based on supposition that the Empire of Maximilian is unable to guarantee payment of claims in any other form Corona line four thousand men before Maxatlan Gov Rubi had issued a proclamation outlawing all traitors that had taken up arms for the Empire The port of Lodas Santas in lower California has been declared open to commerce by a decree of Navarette, Liberal Governor of the State of Culecan

The 4th of July was celebrated with great eclat, and the letter of Secretary Seward demanding the withdrawal of the French troops from Mexico was read with the American Declaration of Independence.

Octavian Hoag a pioneer of 49 and a well known resident of San Francisco, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday Deceased soon after coming to the State, was actively engaged in the newspaper agency business, and is the originator of the first French newspaper ever published on the coast but the enterprise was in advance of the times and was discontinued More recently he was known as senior partner of the firm of Hoag & Madison

Mrs Matilda Brewster widow of John Brewster Jr has commenced an action in the South District Court against Jas De Fremery and Albert Maller, to recover $25 000 damages for the loss of her husband who was killed by the fall of a Summer Street House and $1 500 for the destruction of her household property She alleges that the accident was caused by the neglect of the defendants to secure the walls from falling, knowing them to be in an unsafe condition

Rodney Clarke, a mining secretary and dealer in mining stocks filed his petition in insolvency His losses have been incurred through mining stock investments by which he finds himself in debt to the amount of $60 000 with no assets except his certificates representing millions upon their face but which have no real market value.

A leading grain merchant of this city received a dispatch from London which was transmitted it are about 5 o'clock P M and received here at eleven o clock A M on same day, allowing for difference of time between here and London, the telegram was only about an hour on the way

In charge of embezzlement against Warren H Bridge, is being investigated this afternoon The defendant demanded a private examination and consequently no spectators are allowed in the courtroom, except the officers of the Court and the witnesses.

The question of jurisdiction in the case of Peter D Hendley charged with embezzling $62,000 from Wells, Fargo & Co, will be argued to-morrow afternoon

SALEM, Sept 12, 1866

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The Capital has been for several days crowded to repletion with members, many of whom have their families, friends of senatorial candidates, candidates themselves, and visitors attracted by the stirring scenes always accompanying the opening of a session of the Legislature The two houses having organized, many of the place-seekers are disposed of and can now return to their anxious constituents They can mostly be spared, without serious inconvenience.

The Union majority here is working quite harmoniously and has ceased to be alarmed or disturbed by the swaggering or political boasting of the Copperheads It is ascertained that the professions of the latter class of hombres in relation to having secured Union votes on the Senatorial question, are all mere bosh and were uttered, in the first place for the same reason that a Chinaman bangs his infernally melodious gong when going into battle expecting to see his antagonist take to his heels in mortal fright at the noise The Cops may beat their gong and blow the Democratic bewgag till they crack their cheeks. The Union majority will march straight forward in well ordered column, till the Constitutional amendment is ratified and an United States Senator who will vote right is elected

Certain Democratic members came here with the comfortable belief that in them reposed about all the strategy and policy, tact and parliamentary knowledge and brains that would be here. Some of them boasted that if they could not actually carry their several points, they could and would prevent the majority from carrying their measures They were beating their gongs Thus far they have succeeded in nothing, and will not in the future, except, possibly, to occasion delay now and then

Humason and one or two others made a little exhibition of smartness in a small way, in the joint Convention to-day, while the returns from Grant county were being canvassed They made no points that were visible to the naked eye They wanted to know if the returns had a seal and were informed by the Speaker that they had The Speaker invited a member to read the returns; they wanted to know who he was, and were informed by the Speakor (though not in so many words), that it was none of their business They wanted to know if the returns which showed that the votes of some precincts had been rejected, could be canvassed for that reason They were informed by the presiding officer that that question was not before the Convention They wanted the abstract, certificates, all read, the paper was read from end to end for their delectation, and the smart ones subsided

The inauguration ceremonies took place at the Methodist church at 3 o'clock to-day Judge Shattuck administered the oath to the Governor elect Governor Woods then delivered his inaugural address of which all but Copperheads speak in terms of high commendation. There was a large audience in attendance

The Senate, as usual, has less of the talking element than the House, though it has quite as much intelligence, combined with far less disposition to masticate live coals The House will be deaf long before the session closes, unless some of the lungs there give out sooner The joint convention, to-day, made a better exhibition of heads and countenances (indicating intelligence) than the average It will be a session marked with talent some hard, honest work, plenty of strategy, glorious victories and tremendous defeats

The constitutional amendment will be acted upon within two or three days.

I am informed that the Democratic members with not more than one exception, have agreed in caucus to vote for Nesmith, but, unless they can secure enough Union votes to elect him, many of them will preserve their consistency by voting for some man who was never suspected of being a Union man Both parties have been in caucus this (Wednesday) evening but of course proceedings are contraband at present

SIMPLICITY IN DRESS —The Empress Eugenie, after a reckless display of extravagance, is endeavoring to encourage economy in dress by setting an example of stern simplicity On several recent occasions she appeared almost unadorned and it is stated that she has just concluded a purchase of six dresses for the sum of $—,000 with the object of wearing them at Court Eugenie has also nearly revolutionized trade at Nancy Under her patronage a lively competition has sprung up between the manufacturers of that town, each vieing with the other to obtain designs for embroidery more simple in taste and less costly than that now in vogue

THE BOYS IN BLUE —Conservative dispatches, especially to the St Louis Republican states that at all attempts to get up public meetings in Philadelphia the boys in blue were present in great force, and persisted in impertinent inquiries about New Orleans Returned soldiers are not to be humbugged by sham Unionists They know a rebel when they see him

GENERAL SHERMAN —General Sherman is thus spoken of by the South Carolina Courier "If there are two names which we should select to typify all that is fiendish in human nature they are those of Sherman, the arch incendiary, and of Logan, his tool,"

PETITIONS MEMORIALS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr WILLER of Jackson presented a petition from Jacksonville Dr Bradley reciting, that he received at the late election in Grant county a majority of the votes for State Senator and asking, to have it seat now occupied by Mr Sherar

Mr DOLPH moved to refer to the Committee on Elections

Mr FORD moved to amend so as to refer to a select committee

Mr PYLE The Committee on Elections has been a political whose peculiar office it is to consider this class of questions—to investigate in cases of contested seats The members of that committee were doubtless appointed by the President with a view to their fitness and ability to do that class of business in strict accordance with all usages The only object I can see for the motion for a select committee, is that the memorial upon the committee The power as the constant care of the same party will direct any be manifest the reference sought by the motion is unusual and I hope it will not be made

Mr FORD The gentleman is under a false impression as to the object of my motion My only object is to get a committee who are entirely disinterested and can give the entire attention to the investigation I am not on the Committee on Elections and though I am of the same politics as the contestant I would not like to get up on any committee for the purpose of taking advantage of my position to favor a political friend I would not as a Senator acting under oath, take advantage of the fact that the contestant is a Democrat I hope the gentleman will not thus impugn my motives I cannot here to act as a partisan in the discharge of my official duties

Mr DOLPH The Committee on Elections is composed of Senators who for integrity and ability are unquestioned That committee will no doubt investigate all matters submitted in it with fairness and impartiality This contest is thoroughly open to parties, and the committee will have ample time to investigate it There can be no reason for a select committee on the ground I want of time on the part of the Committee on Elections The object of the motion is plainly to take the matter from the hands of the standing committee and give it to a select committee Whatever may be expected to be gained by it, the motion practically impugns the integrity of the standing committee

Mr BONNELL I am opposed to the motion to amend, because it will establish a precedent for taking business which legitimately belongs to standing committees away from them and giving it to special committees. It will make a bad precedent and will result in delaying business by multiplying committees

Mr ROBERTS I can still see no objection to a select committee This case should be attended to at once The gentleman who now has the seat if not entitled to it does not desire to retain it If I were a member of a select committee I would consider and report upon the matter at an early day and thus have it disposed of The Senate can see the object of the motion If the Senate is disposed to put the matter in the hands of a committee which will delay their report for days instead of disposing of the matter at once it will manifest that disposition by its action on this motion

Mr BONNELL The Senator is not right in impugning the integrity of the standing committee I do not like to hear that committee charged with bad intentions.

The amendment was lost, 8 to 11 The motion to refer to Committee on Elections was carried.

On motion of Mr MILLER the contestant, John A Drinkhouse, was invited to a seat within the bar of the Senate.

On motion of Mr PALMER, the members of the Senate repaired to the Hall of the House for the purpose of receiving the Governor's Message.

JOINT CONVENTION

WEDNESDAY Sept 12—10 30 A M.

In accordance with agreement between the two Houses the Senators accepted seats in the Hall of the House for the purpose of receiving the Governor's Message

The PRESIDENT appointed Messrs Palmer and Olney to wait on the Governor and inform him that the two Houses were now in joint convention and ready to receive any communication he may have to make The committee having waited upon the Governor he came in and his Private Secretary, J A Waymire read the Message [The Message was published in the OREGONIAN of yesterday.—ED.]

On motion of Mr Palmer, the Convention accepted the 800 copies of the message as now printed

The PRESIDENT announced that the Senate would remain in the hall and that the Speaker of the House would proceed to canvass and declare the vote for Governor

The SPEAKER announced that through courtesy to Col Jas K Kelly one of the candidates, the Convention would await his attendance

Mr PALMER moved the appointment of a committee to wait on the Governor elect and ascertain what time it would suit his convenience to take the oath of office and deliver his inaugural address. The motion prevailed.

Mr OCCIRAN, of the House, objected to canvassing the votes at this time. He had heard no intimation till now that there was any such purpose

The SPEAKER proceeded with the canvass of votes, with the following result

THE BURNING RUINS.—Chief Engineer Young yesterday adopted a plan to secure the city against further loss on account of the fire which is still burning on the ruins of the lately destroyed mill of Messrs. Harbaugh & Stitzel. The sawdust and shavings covers an area of about one acre, and will average a depth of ten feet. This is being burned through and through, but by cutting a trench on the south side, and from east to west across it will cut off the worst portion which will be allowed to burn up. There will be no danger after noon to-day, of further destruction of property, unless the stable on the north side is destroyed. It is still full of hay, and last evening the wind was changing in that direction.

THE FIRE IN THE WOODS.—The fire in the woods, which has been raging for some considerable length of time, is proving really a great loss to farmers west and south-west of the city. We understand that in some places the crops in the fields, fences, houses and barns, have been partially or totally burned. The fire spreads with frightful rapidity, the wind bearing it from tree to tree for a distance of 600 to 800 yards.

FROM THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt last evening brought quite a number of passengers from various parts of the upper Columbia country, and $134,000 in treasure, the principal bulk of which was silver bricks from Owyhee. The usual number of immigrants from the Middle and Western States also arrived by the same steamer.

MUSICAL MERCHANDISE.—Mr. E. G. Randall, importer and dealer in musical instruments, next door to the Postoffice, on the corner of First and Alder streets, is now offering a very complete stock of musical merchandise to the trade. He is agent for the sale of Mason & Hamlin's celebrated Cabinet Organs, Steinway's piano fortes, and Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machines. See advertisement.

FINED.—James Burk was fined $5 and cost before Justice Gradon yesterday, on conviction of assault and battery.

SAILED.—The steamship Oriental, Capt. Wm. Metzger, sailed for San Francisco at 8 o'clock last evening, from this port.

FOR PORTLAND.—The steamship Montana, Capt. Kelly, left San Francisco for Portland on Tuesday morning.

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands lower, and in the marked of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the rapidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, by imposing upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. The Children's Prayer.

"OF SUCH IS THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN."

Three white-clad forms beside the bed,
With little hands uplaid,
When all their toys are laid away,
And the noise of day is quelled;
And mother hears them each repeat,
With voices earnest, low and sweet,
The simple prayer,
She teaches there:
"Gentle Jesus, meek and mild,
Look upon a little child."

Fond kisses and "good nights" from all,
As rosy cheeks are laid
On snowy pillows, then calm sleep
Till dreamy night shall fade;
Guid angels bend above each face
That silent lies in soothing grace
Through toil and care
Our lives must share:
"Gentle Jesus, meek and mild,
Look upon a little child."

O, loved and sinless little one,
When years have led you on,
And she who lingers o'er you now
To her reward has gone:
When the toys of life are laid away,
And evening comes, still may you pray,
With faithful hearts,
As life departs:
"Gentle Jesus, meek and mild,
Look upon a little child."

GOV. WOODS' INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

Having been called, by the voice of the people, to preside over the Executive Department of the State of Oregon, for the next four years, I have, to-day, in accordance with the requirements of law, taken the oath of office, preparatory to entering upon the responsible duties of the high trust confided to my hands; and a judicious and impartial execution of the duties thus incurred, shall demand, and receive, my constant and most earnest attention.

We, as a people, have just passed through one of the most exciting political campaigns known in the history of American politics, calling forth all the zeal, and energy, and bitterness of party alliances, and rigorously enforced party discipline; but the people, in whom is lodged all political power, have expressed their will at the ballot-box, and, in accordance with the theory and spirit of our institutions, it is hoped all will willingly acquiesce in the result, and thus again vindicate the ability of the people for self-government.

In entering upon the duties of my office, I cannot fail to congratulate you, and the Nation, upon the happy termination of our late civil war, and the consequent return to the peaceful avocations of life of the loyal armies that have been battling for the preservation of the liberties of the people.

War is always to be deprecated, however high and holy may be the principles for the defense of which it may be inaugurated; but there are times in the history of nations when its inauguration and support becomes the highest duty of the citizen. Such, when the citadel of our liberties was assailed, was the high duty of every loyal man; and, before God, we rejoice that millions of bold, patriotic hearts, responded to their country's call, and upon the battle-fields of the Republic made permanent the nation's existence, and secured the national honor.

Nor would we forget to do honor to the patriot dead, who laid down their lives upon their country's altar, in defense of our liberties. To the soldiers of this nation we are indebted for every thing that makes us a great and a free people; and for their patriotic devotion to constitutional liberty; for their deeds of daring and heroic valor, and the noble sacrifices which they have made, their names and their memories will be treasured up in the hearts of the lovers of liberty forever. And we humbly trust that the land which treasures up the sacred dust of the fallen heroes will be so consecrated anew in the hearts of the people, that the mournful wail of civil war will never again disturb the quiet of their repose, nor the impious hand of treason be permitted to desecrate their resting place. But, while there is much cause to lament the inauguration of the late war, and its long continuance, all must concede that great and good results have followed that great calamity. The hated and pernicious doctrine of State supremacy, and the consequent right of secession, have been put forever at rest; and the dignity, and power of the General Government triumphantly asserted.

Never again will the "State Rights" theory be promulgated in America. There are those, doubtless, among the subdued rebels and their coadjutors, who still believe in the right of secession; but it is hoped that the salutary lessons taught the promulgators of that doctrine, at the point of the bayonet, will be a sure guaranty for all future time. The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land. To its authority all, whether as individuals, communities or States, must bow submission. To the doctrine of State subordination, we owe our strength of nationality. For it we have made noble sacrifices of blood and treasure; by it we achieved the victory.

Slavery, too, has perished. That cancer upon the body politic, which has been so long eating out the substance, and threatening the vitality of the Republic, has been cut out by the sword, and the nation redeemed from its thraldom, and renewed and invigorated by the trials and afflictions through which it has passed, rises up in moral grandeur before the world, in practice as in theory the model Republic of earth.

The civilized world rejoices in the death of American slavery. Its gross injustice; its encroachments upon the rights and liberties of the citizen; its radical antagonism to the very idea of free government; a relic of barbarism, founded in ignorance and despotism, and wrong; necessarily creating castes, engendering aristocracies, and ignoring the most sacred rights known to man, it was the common enemy of mankind, and merited, as it justly received, utter extinction.

But while the rebellion has been suppressed by the valor of our arms, slavery and treason buried together in one common grave, and the national unity and honor fully vindicated, other questions of vital importance and equally calculated to agitate the public mind, have arisen. The reconstruction of those States lately in rebellion, and the rights, under the Constitution, of those who participated in armed resistance to the authority of the General Government, are now demanding attention. It is to be regretted that, upon these subjects, radical differences of opinion exist between the co-ordinate branches of the Government, since however pure the motives of each, the prolongation of the end so much desired by all must be the inevitable result. Without making any strictures upon either department, it must be apparent to all that the Government owes it to the surviving heroes of the late sanguinary struggle, to the patriot dead, to liberty and the great principles for which we fought, that the fruits of the war be not now yielded up. We, in common with all good citizens, desire an early restoration of all the States to the full exercise of all their Constitutional rights; but let that exercise be consistent with national safety, and national honor. It is not enough that rebels lay down their arms; let them manifest a spirit of obedience to the national authority, and a full compliance with the terms proposed; let them send to the legislative department a loyal representation—men who heartily acquiesce in the new order of things. There are such in the rebellious States; but those who took up arms against the Government, what rights have they? The law defines the crime of treason; they have committed that crime, therefore they have only such rights as the law gives to traitors.

They voluntarily abandoned their rights under the Constitution, took up the sword, and to the arbitrament of war submitted their cause; they were subdued, and it is for the General Government to fix the terms of their return. Terms have been presented. Tennessee has accepted them; her Representatives have been admitted; let other States follow the example of noble Tennessee, and they too will have their representatives in the National Councils. A refusal to do this is a tacit admission, on their part, that they will not yield obedience, but insist upon dictating their own terms. This they cannot do. It may be said that the terms are harsh, and oppressive. Not so. Never has a nation, under like circumstances been so lenient.

Can any truly loyal man object to, or can the rebels themselves expect less, than the repudiation of the rebel debt, to pledge the national faith for the payment of the Federal debt, to the securing in the full exercise of all their civil rights, of all persons in the Republic, whether native born or naturalized, to basing representation upon eligibility to participation in political power, and prohibiting from holding office all those who have once taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and willfully violated it? The terms are eminently just and proper, and we earnestly look for their early adoption by the requisite number of States, and thus become a part of the supreme law of the land. I cannot too strongly urge the immediate adoption, by you, of the proposed Constitutional amendment. Founded in justice and right, it merits your highest admiration. Upon its incorporation into the supreme law depends the safety, prosperity and permanence of the Republic. You have it in your hands thus to confer a lasting benefit upon this nation. I doubt not you will do your duty as becomes freemen, and make for yourselves a page in your country's history that shall be a lasting honor to your name and your memory.

Oregon, one of the youngest of the great sisterhood, is not inferior to any in those natural resources which are calculated to build up a great empire State. Its rapid advance in agricultural, manufacturing and commercial interests, give evidence of a promising future; and it is for you to remember that much depends upon judicious and wholesome legislation.

As, in my opinion, the Message of my predecessor makes mention of all the legislation demanded at this time, I do not deem it necessary for me to renew any of those recommendations, other than to add that too much importance cannot be attached to a general system of education. In Governments like ours, where all power is in the people, a general diffusion of knowledge is the life blood of nationality.

Intelligence and good morals are indispensible to the perpetuity of free institutions. I cannot refrain from expressing the hope, therefore, that some general system, simple in its detail, and efficient in its operation, can be devised, so that a good common school education can be placed within the reach of every child, rich or poor, within the State. Be this and our liberties are secured.

For the time being, we are the custodians of the people's interests. Though chosen as partisans, in the assumption of the powers vested in us, we become the servants of the entire people, without regard to party; and it is earnestly hoped that, for the general good, all will acquiesce in the necessity for harmonious and speedy action in all measures pertaining to the development of the vast interests and resources of our State, and thus nobly acquit ourselves in the high trust committed to our keeping. I bring with me but little experience with which to enter upon the discharge of the duties of my office, and feel that I shall need your assistance and the kind indulgence of a generous people. But conscious of my own correctness of purpose, with a firm reliance on Almighty God, without whose divine aid no man can succeed, and with an earnest belief in the ultimate triumph of the right, I promise only to do my duty. GEORGE L. WOODS.

FROM EUROPE.

The report that Austria has been purchasing needle guns to repair the rents made by Prussia, is manufactured out of whole cloth. Do you see the point?

The London Times' special from Windsor says the Queen yesterday directed the Lord Treasurer to pay Minister Adams the amount claimed by the United States for losses by the Alabama, and that Mr. Adams received a check for the amount on the Bank of England, and at once turned it over to her Majesty's Exchequer to square the damages occasioned by the Fenian raid on Canada. Thus the "tie that bind us" is strengthened and perpetuated.

Goldsmith's Deserted Village—"sweet Auburn, loveliest village of the plain"—has been purchased on "ninety days" time for the American Promoter, Mr. Seward, who will retire to that secluded locality, after the Philadelphia Convention, to pursue his studies on the Prophecies.

In London, at an early hour last evening, a gentleman with spare legs, weak eyes and light hair, named John Chivalry, was observed by Little Dorrit—a young lady of amiable character who resides in the Old Marshalsea—to throw himself into the water from the Iron bridge. A paper found in his pocket after the body was recovered contained a pathetic inscription for his own tombstone.

One Shylock was arrested at a late hour of the night, on the Rialto, in Venice, for being on a bender, and disturbing the neighborhood with his cries about, ducats, and his daughter. He was marched across a bridge of size to the police station to the Ducal palace by that excellent of the Adriatic Freedmen's Bureau, Othello, who has heretofore done the State some service.

FROM ASIA, EGYPT AND PALESTINE.

The price of pork in Jerusalem advanced yesterday 2 shekels per pound.

A young Damascus blade has been arrested in that city for coining the confidence game over a mummy of the 2d century. He swor'd awfully when he was "took up."

An accomplished young woman in Tyre, a descendant of Queen Cleopatra, committed suicide day before yesterday by swallowing a dose of "Egyptian calla."

The enclosure on the eastern side of the Garden of Eden being in bad repair an unruly hippopotamus lately escaped, but was soon secured. The local paper—the daily Alpha and Omega says the Garden is going to ruin. All traces of the bower where Adam and Eve took their siestas have disappeared; though the trail of the serpent is plainly visible in the Orchard, the trees of which still bear fruit, but of inferior quality and no piquancy.

Navigation on the river Nile is obstructed by crocodiles. Water only three feet on the shoals, and falling.

FROM EL MEDINA.

A party of vagrants, called pilgrims, en route to Mecca to visit the tomb of the lamented Prophet, were raided one day last week on the great desert by a band of gentle Bedouins, and rifled of their opium, garlic, and appolets. Allah il Allah!

THE MISSIONARY SERVICE.

Late reports from the Feejee Islands represent the inhabitants as likely to suffer for lack of missionary meat. The stock on hand is reduced to a limited number of old and rather tough individuals, and a fresh supply of young and juicy victims would be hailed with delight.

FROM THE ORIENT.

The Tycoon of Japan committed harikarki after reading the latest dispatches from Mexico in the Japanned Bummer. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from mental obfuscation.

The Tribune's special from Paris says: His Oriental Highness, the child of the sun and the brother of the moon, the Emperor of China, in order to relieve his subjects from the dreadful necessity of drowning their surplus children, has hit upon the plan of shipping the little innocents to the United States, where, of late years, he understands, there has been a great scarcity of babes.

(At this point the sea-serpent twisted his tail and thus prevented further communication. As soon as the twist is out, dispatches will be sent through straight.)

The National Union.

Not a misprint, good reader—we mean just what the head of this article announces, a Union in the strictest strength of the word, imaginary, ideal and visionary. And by that designation we mean the new party, of utterly incongruous materials, which is proposed to be formed by the plastic skill of a few politicians at Washington, and to which they comically give the name of National Union.

This project is not a product of the popular sentiment of the country. It is, on the contrary, a merely personal scheme. How large an influence, in its contrivance, the wish of certain parties to continue in public life may have had, as they saw before them the unwelcome prospect of soon retiring from it, it is not difficult to estimate. Such a new arrangement of political parties is not demanded by any great question now before the country. That it should be resorted to for retaining the tenure of office, and that to secure success in the effort, the most unnatural coalitions with old antagonists should be formed, will surprise no one who is acquainted with the trade of politics.

Neither will it occasion any surprise, that false issues should be put forward to conceal those that are. The Republicans who have given their countenance to this measure, and especially those who originated it, know as well as we do, that the issue is not whether the States lately in rebellion shall be admitted to their functional relations with the Government or not. It is not, whether they shall be admitted sooner or later. It is not a question of time at all, but a question of method or manner. They demand admission and terms that would give them greater advantage over the free States than they had before the war, and would place the legislation of the country virtually in their hands, and that, too, while they are exhibiting an animus that would make shipwreck of every pecuniary and political interest of the Northern and Western people.

The result of the movement, if successful, would be entirely and inevitably disastrous to the interests that have, during the late struggle, been sustained by the Republican party. That the Democrats and late rebels not only see, but proclaim it. The use it as the strong and comprehensive argument for their concurrence with the movement. The recently trimped up distinction between the Republican and Union party, which are one and the same, is as absurd as it is impertinent, for whether it was Republican or Union or both, it did not embrace the Chicago Convention sort of Democrats, and it did not embrace the Virginia and South Carolina sort of rebels, with both of which the Republican fabricators of the new movement so cordially now fraternize. Yet in the face of all these facts, while the unchanged Richmond papers and the unchanged New York News are rousing their factions with assurance of a triumph over the Republican Union party, members of that party are not only giving the new enterprise their aid, but are endeavoring to deceive their old constituents into the belief that it is altogether a Union measure and a Union party, and wholly in the direction that they have been pursuing hitherto. It may be true that these honest and smart National Unionists are not pulling ostensibly, in the same direction with their old opponents, but it is only because they have, for appearance sake, just passed the rope over a single pulley, and thus they aid the elevation of their old antagonists the more by pulling in an opposite direction.

The deceptiveness that characterizes this divisive movement is not without design. The old Democrats and rebels engaged in it have been the most honest of its adherents. They know their hope to be the utter ruin of the Republican party, while the Republicans that go with it declare the contrary. For be it from them to injure the good old party that has saved the Union! It does not make much difference, however, for a national Union cannot supercede a Union that has given such abundant and enduring evidence of its being sound, strong and National.—Pittsburg Commercial.

Certain events have struck the hour when the ranks of the people must be formed again. Recent tests—tests equal in principle to the war itself—allow of no mistake whatever as to who are the new enemies of the loyal nation and who are its friends. The loyal men of the South have stepped into the ranks with their brethren of the North. The recusants of the Union party have preferred, rather than take place with those who have suffered for their loyalty during the war, to stand side by side with avowed rebels in support of a policy which has gratuitously and willfully surrendered the fruits of our bloodiest victory, and which has bound the loyal men of the South hand and foot, in order to give into the custody of rebels, as before, the right claimed by twice their number. All this is the practical result of several downright steps of a downward policy, and those who follow it must follow it inevitably and incurably to the bad. We part with them without affection or fear; let them go finally—they have lost themselves, and will not be missed. If two of the worst horrors which have lately beset the way of loyal men cannot deter them, we know, indeed, that they are in league with the highwaymen. Henceforth as before, we must oppose a party that wages war upon the multiplication table. The end it is not difficult to see.

TERRIBLE HAIL STORM IN SYCAMORE, ILL.—The Sycamore, Ill., True Republican of August 8th, gives an account of a terrible hail storm which occurred in that place a few days before. The storm came from the northwest, and one who observed its approach speaks of it as a dense black cloud from which depended a dark bag or sack, which swayed to and fro, and finally divided as it swept on its way. The lighter portion passed through this village and for a distance of a mile or so to the south. With a crash like a volley from a million muskets, every glass exposed towards the north was shivered to atoms. Hail stones measuring seven and eight inches in circumference fell by millions. The hail fell only for two or three minutes here, but it did great damage. Every skylight in the place was shattered to atoms, and the fine glass fronts of the stores went in with a crash. The northern windows were all broken and vegetation somewhat severely damaged. Two little boys looking for their cows in the west part of the town, were knocked down senseless. Pigs and lambs were killed, and dead birds are seen in great numbers. Two or three miles to the north hail fell for more than half an hour, and there the injury and destruction was most severe. For a strip of two or three miles in width and many miles long, the farmers generally consider their standing crops entirely destroyed.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The iron for one hundred miles of the Union Pacific Railroad beyond Kearny is in Omaha, and another hundred miles is on the way up the river.

SOMETHING NEW!

THE NEW LIGHT:

DANFORD'S

Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT IS A UNIversal necessity. A Safe, Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities, where Gas is used. Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney, and without unpleasant odor while in use. That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance, the chimney, is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided; it is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supercede all other Coal Oil Lamps; it is the cheapest artificial light that can be used, yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than ¼ cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp, for one-third the cost. It will burn when turned down to a taper-light, ten hours for a cent, is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out. These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufrene, corner of Morrison and First streets.
